SUMMARY

I actively drive the advancement of machine learning applications in cardiac imaging, focusing on automating diagnosis, prognosis, anatomical segmentation, and report generation. My work has been published in prestigious journals, has influenced European guidelines and earned awards from the UK Parliament, Radiological Society of North America and Royal College of Radiologist.
Leveraging my expertise in big data management and analysis, computer coding, and evidence-based medicine, and through collaborating with international centers, I was instrumental in the development of a cardiac MR segmentation tool. This tool is integral to clinical practice at Sheffield Teaching Hospitals and underscores my commitment to bridging the gap between research and clinical application.

In tandem with my research, my clinical interest centres on cardiac imaging, particularly the assessment of ischaemic heart disease with stress perfusion cardiac MR and coronary CT. I completed an advanced cardiac imaging fellowship at the Royal Papworth Hospital and attained high-level cardiac MR and CT accreditation.

Teaching is fundamental in my career, demonstrated through my involvement in organising national conferences and courses and teaching at various levels including international courses, supervising PhD students, mentoring junior radiology trainees, and contributing to the departmental radiology teaching programme. I am honoured to have received an Educational Award from Health Education England and hold a Postgraduate-Certificate in Medical Education along with a Fellowship of the Higher Education Academy.

Leadership is central to my professional identity. I have served as the co-chair of the BSCI trainee committee, previously co-chairing the BSCMR trainee committee, actively contributing to the academic committee of the RCR and have represented doctors and postgraduate students in various committees. I have successfully coordinated the on-call registrars' rota at the Sheffield Radiology Training Scheme since 2018. Despite the challenges of transitioning to the new junior doctors' contract and staff shortages during the COVID-19 pandemic, I consistently ensured smooth operations.
